ABOUT US

LET US DREAM is a globally established, locally rooted not-for-profit organization dedicated to creating holistically developed communities across the world. Founded on the belief in a global family, we envision a world where individuals and societies thrive interdependently together toward a sustainable, inclusive world.

At the heart of LET US DREAM is a community-based model that connects people, cultures, and organizations across continents. We bring together passionate, like-minded individuals from diverse backgrounds and ethnicities who share a commitment to holistic development, supporting personal growth, emotional well-being, social responsibility, and leadership in every stage of life.

ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

The “Resilient Futures: Chennai 2025” community conference seeks to explore pathways toward building a more inclusive, sustainable, and adaptable city—one that not only survives disruption but thrives through collective strength and innovation.

This conference provides a platform for citizens, educators, researchers, policymakers, NGOs, and youth leaders to exchange ideas, share best practices, and collaborate on local solutions for global challenges. Through interactive sessions, community showcases, and collaborative dialogues, Resilient Futures: Chennai 2025 aims to highlight stories of resilience, celebrate local changemakers, and inspire partnerships that nurture social, environmental, and emotional well-being. The initiative aligns with the vision of creating empowered communities capable of shaping a more equitable and sustainable urban future.

OUR COLLABORATOR

STELLA MARIS COLLEGE, established and run by the Society of the Franciscan Missionaries of Mary (FMM), is a Catholic minority institution committed to providing university education in a Christian atmosphere while remaining open to all, irrespective of caste or creed. Rooted in faith and responsive to India's pluralistic context, the College promotes inclusive and value-based education that supports holistic growth and lifelong learning.

The mission of the College is to empower young women to face life's challenges with courage and commitment, to build a humane and just society, and to foster a collaborative learning community where all—especially those from less-privileged backgrounds—can thrive. Upholding academic excellence alongside personal development, Stella Maris seeks to mould women of character who are self-reliant and agents of positive social transformation.
